THE DOCKLINE

Official Newsletter of the Green Bay Yachting Club

AHOY EVERYONE!

Here we are in November already. The year has flown by!

The docks are all tucked nicely in their winter home. Thank you to everyone that showed up to help with dock day. Remember that the small dumpsters are closed for the winter. We will get charged extra if there is garbage in them so please take your trash to the dumpster by the club if you have anything. Also, the porta potties are winterized and closed. You can use the outdoor bathrooms by the club if needed.

This is the month when we nominate members to join the board. I've heard some rumblings of quite an assortment of people running. This is great news. Getting some of the newer members on the board will help with new ideas. Good luck to all that are running.

Our Veteran's Program is scheduled for November 11th. If you have not had the opportunity to attend, please consider it. The committee does a wonderful job with this event. They usually need some volunteers to help the day of and also to bring food items. Check out the bulletin board for sign up sheets.

Looking forward, the Children's Christmas Party is scheduled for early December. Keep an eye out for more information as it gets closer.

Happy Thanksgiving!

HELLO ALL

Hello all, patio update.. we had several big expenses this season. So it's pushed back till next season . As soon as I have approval to purchase the pavers , we will. Have a Great off season!!

Your Grounds Guy,

Jason Dornor | GROUNDS

Our condolences to Linda Kofler on the passing of her dad Gerald " Jerry " Lardinois. Sincere sympathy to the entire family during this sad time.

COME ON DOWN!

Now that the boats are put away, and the harbor is put to sleep. It's the perfect time to enjoy the inside of the club.

Get reacquainted with your favorite bar stool, enjoy our friendly staff, meet friends, old and new. In closing, come on down, swap stories, and enjoy the company.

See you there.

THE GHOST OF THE GRASSY ISLAND RANGE LIGHTS

Date of Entry – November 15, 2001

The Admirals Nelson and Baenen decided to set up camp and sleep inside the North Range Light on Friday, November 9, 2001. All was well and the initial night seemed to be a success. As they settled down to rest, they had no idea what the night had in store for them. The occasional sounds of howling wind and rippling water were nothing new for these two hardy sailors, and they slept without fear. It wasn't until the early hour of 2:00am that an unusual sound awoke them from their peaceful slumber. It was a solid thundering of footsteps on the tin above them that caused the Admirals to lift their ears up, tilting down their heads. A puzzled look came across their faces as they shook their heads back and forth at each other as to reassure themselves it was nothing. Again, the sounds of footsteps echoed throughout the inside of the lighthouse. They wondered what could make such a noise. Without the aid of a flashlight, the two Admirals slowly climbed the dark wooden stairs, stepping lightly so their presence would not be known. Together, they opened the trap door as its rusty hinges screamed a large squeaking siren, alarming anyone or anything that may have been there. They made their way cautiously to the lantern room which was well lit. Their eyes moved rapidly scanning every inch of the room only to find it completely empty. Admiral Baenen noticed the door leading to the walkway outside was unlocked. Without hesitation, he locked it tightly. Admiral Nelson nodded his head slightly as a sign of approval. Their eyes met, each trying not to be the first to speak the eerie thoughts in their heads. They made their way back down quietly, both deciding it was better not to speak. While they attempted to fall back asleep, quietly, both decided it was better not to speak. While they attempted to fall back asleep, Admiral Baenen heard more footsteps, this time much closer than before. The sound grew louder behind him, and he could sense something creeping about. He slowly turned his head, squinting his eyes to see in the dark. Finally he focused in on the figure to find that it was only

Admiral Nelson walking to lock the door to the lighthouse. Admiral Baenen closed his eyes as he let out a sigh of relief. They both returned to a restless sleep with adrenaline still in their blood.

As I heard these stories, I wonder what made the noise. Could there be some apparition that remained all these years in the lighthouse? I have heard many legends of ghosts living inside lighthouses. Perhaps there is more history involved in these range lights I am hoping you have more information and would be so kind as to enlighten me as I continue on my research. As I learn of more information I will submit it in my correspondence to you. Respectfully yours, The Admiral's Daughter.

BOATERS, we want to hear from you!

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation is undertaking a study of the Tilleman Memorial / Mason Street Bridge, and would like feedback from the boating community about use of the Fox River in and around the Tilleman Memorial Bridge. Your feedback will be used during the alternatives development and to assist the Department in making recommendations for the timing of future work on the bridge.

Point your phone's camera at the QR code here, and it will take you to an online survey.
